In competition with the best drill teams of the state the drill team of the local lodge of Modern Woodmen of America, led by Captain McCausland yesterday at the Exposition annexed second prize. Sacramento lodge took first prize. The local team received a handsome silver trophy, which was up for second place.

The wonderful performance of the local team caused considerable comment. Organized less than a year ago, the local team has captured two cups and one cash prize in addition to yesterday's trophy. The team is increasing its prestige every day and figures to become formidable opponent for the larger and more experienced drill teams.

Quite a large delegation of local Woodmen attended yesterday's affair at the Exposition. W. H. Mallory and Captain McCausland were delegates from the local lodge.

In rendering the decision yesterday the judges were rather undecided and complimented the local team. The competing teams included those from Sacramento, Alameda, San Jose and San Francisco. The team which captured second place yesterday is composed of Captain W. H. McCausland, O. Mccormick, W. B. Wilson, G. Hutton, W. Herron, C. P. Nicholl, A. Haslup, L. Pierson, George St. Claire, G. MEETING TO BE HELD ON THIS P. M.

Thebuilding committee of the city, consisting of Councilmen William Lane, Penry and Fernald will meet this afternoon at the Labor Temple with a committee composed from the Building Trades council and Fire Chief Roy Lemaln to discuss the matter of allowing the firemen to do work which should go to local labor.

From the attitude of the council at its special meeting Wednesday night, the meeting should be a harmonious one and should result in great good for the local laboring classes.

The protest to the council was relative to allowing the firemen who work 24 hours a day to do work which should be given to others. The Trades council did not object to the firemen doing minor work, about the firehouses but it did object to building a tower by the firemen.

WHAT WAR MEANS TO LABOR

Before the outbreak of the European war the annual cost of the armies and navies of the world was three billion dollars, including pensions. Of thos sum one-sixth was paid by the U. S. A. The indirect loss resulting from the withdrawal of arms and brains from productive work must be put at the same amount.

To these six billion dollars the war will add at least two billions for increase and change of armaments. Another two billions will be claimed by pensions to the maimed and the dependents of the killed, and to provide interest on war loans.

Of the annual war burden of ten billion dollars 95 per cent will be borne by Europe, America and Australia. They contain about half of the total population of the earth. Of their population only one-sixth, or a hundred and fifty million, are wealth producers. On their shoulders falls the burden of producing the stupendous sum that war preparations annually require.

In other words, each wealth producer will have to earn $63 a year for the moloch of war. If the average pay of each worker, man, woman or child, be put at seven cents and hour it means that every one of them has to give three hours of their daily toil for the maintenance of armed peace.

Think what the white races could become if these hours were devoted to the education of democracy or to productive labor. Pauperism would be no more: disease reduced to a minimum, ignorance become a thing of the past; crime a fraction of what it now is.

With permanent peace would come decentralization, which alone can obliterate the cleaverage between the governed and the government. There would be no social problems.

It is an interesting fact that it is just 75 years ago that the first excursion train in England was run. Commenting on this the "Daily Chronicle" (London) says: "Ten days before there was an advertisement in the Nottingham and Newark 'Mercury' to the effect that the committee of the Nottingham Mechanics Institute have resolved to visit Leicester Exhibition with their friends on July 20th. The names of persons wishing to be of the party will be received at the exchange room. The visit proved to be so successful that the following week the visit was returned by the Leicester Mechanics' Institute. Then the directors of the railway learned the lesson and ran the first public excursion on August 10th, and a fortnight later they repeated it, and a train of 65 coaches rushed along the line with a noise resembling the dashing of a thousand surges on a rocky shore, and brought the 2400 people from Nottingham to Leicester Exhibition."

The labor movement is striving for immediate yet lasting improvements in the conditions under which the work of the world is done. If you are not contributing your share toward this praiseworthy end you are lax in your duty to yourself, your fellows, and posterity. Not much is asked of you under normal conditions, and you should not fail. He is, indeed a worthless individual who can not, or will not, fulfill his obligations to the labor movement. Demand the union label, attend meetings and take an interest in affairs.

PANTAGES BILL HAS FEATURES

"Concentration," most wonderful mental mystery act ever presented in the world, featuring telepathic and mind reading artists who perform and excel any feat ever performed by any other expert in this uncanny art, is the headline feature at the Pantages for the coming week. Mme Zenda, a woman who reads the human mind as the eye reads a printed book, and who duplicates any trick of the Anna Eva Fay or Alexander class is one of the stars of the act, and Mercedes Crane, the musical oracle, rivals the greatest illusionists or real telepathists. Whether the feats are illusions or real mind reading no one can tell—they cannot be explained even by experts. This act, it is conceded by the famous mind readers of the nation, bebins where others leave off. It was specially brought west by Alexander Pantages.

"Fang Choy," scintillating musical tabloid of China, with Agnes von Bracht, well-known soprano singer in one of her best roles, is to be anothre feature of the big bill. This operetta is replete with original music, is beautifully staged and costumed and is one of the best of the special productions of the vaudeville season.

Moore the magician, the five juggling Normans, Lee Zimmerman, a whistler whose clever act has won him international fame; Adele von Ell and Russell Drew and several other striking features are on the bill.

---Merchants in all lines of business in Richmond give American Trading Stamps. Patronize these stores and always demand your "American Stamps."

---Never has a trading stamp existed that gives as much to the people as American Stamps.

---And the important fact, which has made American Stamps so popular, is because it requires only 500 to fill a book.

SECOND INSTALLMENT

CHAPTER V

——the great ship Ishkabibble trembled from stern to stem. Then it started skyward in a thousand different pieces. The six hundred passengers and members of the crew were blown to atoms. But William Loose, our hero, with the great presence of mind which on more than one occasion had saved his life, grasped the foot of a sea gull and was carried out of the range of destruction and carnage. When over Sixth street and Macdonald avenue, Richmond, he left go his hold and dropped. Again our heroe's presence of mind saved his life. As he approached the earth, he suddenly swung his body and landed on his head. The sidewalk was badly dented but otherwise no ill effects were felt by either sidewalk or our hero.

CHAPTER VI

"Tee hee," remarked the villian, Joe McNamara as he stepped from the barge Annie at San Francisco. "Now to go over and win Mary," he continued. And he strolled up the waterfront and entered a liquid emporium. There he met Oneyed Jake the toughest guy on the Barbary Coast, who was feared by police and criminals. F or a time the two were in earnest confab. Then after tipping over a couple, they parted. Joe invested in a pastboard for Richmond and was soon in the livest city of the country.

CHAPTER VII

After picking himself up, our hero marched over to the Hotel Glenn and after some dickering, with Manager Bushnell secured a room. Then our hero, washed his face, combed his raven locks and set sail for the hash emporium. As he entered the place, Mary was just returning from the kitchen with a couple of platters of fried humming bird wings. For a moment she stood, rooted to the spot. Her lover smiled and cried "Mary, how're yuh kid?" But a patron interrupted. "Say chick," he said "rush them eats. I don't wanta camp in this burg all night."

"Aw take yuh time, friend," returned Mary, as she placed the eats in front of the hungry patron.

Then she turned to the hero. The light of adoration and love shone in her luminous optics. "Well, Bill ole kid, yuh 're sure looking swell," she said.

"Aw cut it, Mary," answered our hero, "But lemme tell yuh, I seen many mighty classy Janes on my last trip but none of 'em even held a pair of deuces compared to yuh. Yuh got 'em all skinned, four ways from the center.

As Mary started to speak someone entered the beanery. For a moment Mary stood a wild look in her eyes. Turning our hero saw the new comes was none other than Joe McNamara, the villian.

An evil smile swept over the countenance of the villian. Then he trembled like a leaf in a swonstorm. "Gee whiz," he muttered "Denny musta put something pretty strong in that last one."

But the villian was no weakling. He was game to the last ctack of chips. Summoning up his courage, he advanced and said "Hellow Bill, howare yuh?" The Hero, like all good heroes ignored the outstretched mitt of the villian. "I'm pretty fair," he answered and he turned to speak to Mary. But the villian was right on the job.

"Wotaya say to tthe jitney show tonight?" he inquired of Mary.

Now Mary like all chickens, wanted to show the hero that he wasn't the only pebble on the beach. So she answered "Why certainly, Joe."

Bill turned a ghastly white. The muscles of his arms chased each other back and forth as the hero, a stern smile on his lips galloped out of the chow house. "Chee," remarked Mary to herself," Now I've went and done it."

SEMI-PRO FANS WATCHING GAME AT SEBASTOPOL THIS AFTERNOON

The stage is all set for the greatest diamond battle of the present baseball season in bush circles. Two clubs—Richmond and Sebastopol—representing the select material outside of organized baseball are waiting the tap of the gong at the Sebastopol grounds at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon. Seldom has a game attracted so much interest in bush circles. Never before have two clubs struggled against the best in the state to attain the much coveted opportunity to land the championship title of the state.

PETALUMA GAME.

Not only is the interest in today's match confined to Richmond and Sebastopol the warring factions, but even San Rafael Santa Rosa and Petaluma are showing great interest in the game. Denny Healey yesterday cancelled Petaluma's game with the American Giants in order that Petaluma might attend the big game at Sebastopol. It is expected that fully 500 Petaluma fans will journey over to the land of Apples. San Rafael and Santa Rosa will each send a delegation of fans. Rest assured that the contest will decide the bill of fare for many citizens during the next few weeks.

Joe Thomas is acting like a big league manager before a world's series contest. Joe refuses to divulge whether Benham or Kremer will pitch for Sebastopol. "Haven't quite decided yet" remarked Joe over the telephon elast night "But it will be either Benham or Kremer. Outside of that my lineup will be unchanged."

DANZIG WITH ELKS

In the absence of Bill Daniels who is in Los Angeles with his wife for a few weeks, Rod Murphy will be moved into center for the Elks and "Babe" Danzig, the hard hitting Martinez citizen will officiate in right field for Richmond.

Manager William Luce announced last night that Charlie Burns would pitch the first half of the game and Frank Gordon the remaining five. "Charlie can hold Sebastopol scoreless for four innings, I am sure," said Bill last night. "Frank will warm up on the sideline until he is called into the game. I don't like to appear over confident, but I feel that we will win tomorrow's game."

RUGGERS ARE DEFEATED 6-3

The Richmond High rugby fifteen was defeated yesterday afternoon by the Berkeley high squad 6 to 3. The game was fast throughout. The visitors excelled in team ork. The local boys put up a stiff battle, however and the game was in doubt until the final battle.
